

DRUNKEN DEBAUCHERY! (OPTIONAL)

When characters spend 100gp or more on their reserve XP fund (see Character Death, ACKS, page 115) by carousing, the player can choose to make a percentile roll on the following table to see exactly how their character spent their money, or what the possible results of their revelry were.

Some results are beneficial, many can serve as the springboard for further adventures, and others are simply fun. In any regard, the Judge determines the specifics of any items and circumstances. In some cases, the Judge may apply the same result to all characters in the group in order to better facilitate further adventures.
